Flood of Light is a beautifully hand-drawn 2D puzzle game that serenades the player with piano music while they travel through a city solving puzzles. Although the game is quite basic in regards to gameplay, the audio and visuals combine to make a very enjoyable and overall relaxing experience. My only criticism of Flood of Light is that although the game is in English, it is clear that it was not the devs primary language as there are some small grammatical errors through-out. Not a big deal, just something to keep in mind if you decide to pick it up. I would recommend Flood of Light to those who enjoy games like Journey and Abzu00fb, or for someone who wants to relax after a long day at work or school.. I like a puzzle game where you can work out how to do the puzzles using logic. For me, this game was all about trial and error. If you're okay with that, buy it (as it looks beautiful and is good value). Otherwise, get something like Life Goes On instead..
